2. The standards of conduct set forth in these Regulations for directors will also apply, to the applicable extent, to the Secretary and Vice Secretary of the Board, as well as to the company's Senior Management.
3. The company considers "Senior Management" as its executive directors and managing directors. The Board may assimilate this status to other directors outside such categories by virtue of the obligations set forth in these Regulations or in accordance with Corporate Governance recommendations.

4. The Board will adopt suitable measures to ensure that:
 - a) no person or group of persons holds any powers of decision not subject to checks and balances.
 - b) no shareholder receives preferential treatment over the others.

Article 7. Other interests.

1. The creation of value in the interest of shareholders would need to be developed by the Board in respect of the requirements imposed by Law, satisfying all contracts and commitments with customers, employees, suppliers, financial backers and other groups of interest to the Company in good faith, while ensuring business in general is conducted responsibly.

 - 3.1. Controlling directors are those who hold or who represent a share holding equal to or greater than the amount considered legally significant, or who have been appointed due to their status as shareholders, either directly or through a representative, although their share holding was insignificant.
 - 3.2. Independent directors are those who have been appointed based on their personal or professional status and who may perform certain functions without their independent status being affected by relations with the Company, its major shareholders or its executives.

To evaluate the aforementioned status of independence, the Board will follow applicable law and current recommendations and practices in regard to Corporate Governance, as well as any other relevant criteria.
 - 3.3. Other external directors are non-executive directors who, in conformity with the provisions of this article, cannot be considered as either significant shareholder or independent directors.
4. The nature of each director is explained by the Board before the Shareholders' Meeting, which must either finalise or ratify the appointment thereof. Similarly, on an annual basis and upon verification by the Nomination, Compensation and Corporate Governance Committee, the Board will confirm or, if applicable, review the nature of each position, providing a record thereof in the Annual Report on Corporate Governance.
5. Similarly, the Annual Report on Corporate Governance should identify the reasons for which:

- i) controlling directors were appointed to represent shareholders with a holding less than that considered legally significant

Article 9. Qualitative composition.

1. The Board, in exercising its rights of proposal to the Shareholder's Meeting and of co-option for the provisional cover of vacancies, will act under the principle that external directors represent a wide majority over executive directors.
2. Similarly, within the group of external directors, the Board should seek to appoint the representatives of shareholders with a significant stake in the company as controlling directors.
3. In order to establish a reasonable balance between controlling directors and independent directors, the Board must focus on the company shareholder structure, considering, in absolute and comparative terms, the importance of share holdings, as well as the degree of permanence and strategic company connections of the holders thereof.

The Chairman must call a Board meeting if formally requested to do so by a Vice Chairman or by one third of the directors. If the Chairman should be absent or fail to satisfy such request without justified cause in the term of one month, any Vice Chairman or the one third of Directors of the Board may call a Board meeting .
3. Any director may propose matters to be discussed by the Board and urge their inclusion on the agenda at each meeting.
